

COUNCIL HAS SENT IT ON

Burgesses will Vote on Radial Agreement on June 20th.

LIBRARY SITE BY-LAW CARRIED

Delegation From Militia Asked That Poll Taxes be Remitted to the Soldiers.

What Was Done
Radial Railway agreement finally passed; to be voted on on June 20th.

Delegation from local militia asked that cheap street railway fares be given, that militia men be exempted from poll tax, and that a grant be issued toward band.

Council approved of idea and asked special committee to report on same.

Bylaw for public library site passed and commissioners requested to secure options on College Ave. site.

An amendment to the building bylaw was discussed by the committee.

King's Picture Draped
One of the first things that caught the eye in the council chamber last night at the regular meeting of the city council, was the black and purple streamers draped over the picture of the late King. Last Friday this had not been done. Beter late than never.

Radial Railway Agreement
The bylaw, authorizing the agreement between the city and the Edmonton Interurban Radial Railway was read, and approved by the council. It will be placed before the people on June 20th. Ald. McGinnis moved that the agreement be approved of temporarily. It was seconded by Ald. Gariepy and carried.

Ald. Hyndman wanted a clause put in preventing the company from having the power to expropriate land in the city, as given them by the railway act. Ald. McInnis thought this was not necessary, as the company was dealing with Edmonton as a corporation not as a city.

A Final Change Made
Ald. Gariepy suggested that the words "and in consideration of this agreement the corporation shall remove all opposition to the granting of the charter to the company," which appeared in clause 10, should be struck out, pointing out that if they were struck out, the city would have a chance to argue any matters of difference when the question of granting the charter came up before the legislature. Mr. Brunel agreed to this and the words were struck out. Other changes made were unimportant and only technical in character.

Aldermen Should Work for it
"As it now stands," said Ald. Gariepy, "I think the agreement is very satisfactory to the city. And I think it is up to the aldermen now to get out and work and see that it is ratified by the people."

Military Delegation
A delegation of military men, headed by Col. Edwards of the 101st Fusiliers, was present and presented a plea to the council that they give all members of the militia free passes on the street cars.

Col. Edwards also suggested that the same practice might be adopted there and in other places, that is, that the poll tax be remitted on those members of the militia who have proved themselves efficient by attending drill regularly, and who have shown their efficiency at the rifle ranges.

The colonel also suggested that in view of the fact that the 101st had secured the services of a good band master, and were making efforts to have a good band this summer, it would be only just of the council to make a generous grant toward this purpose.

Militia Deserve It
"The militia," said Colonel Edwards,

HAD MIRACULOUS ESCAPE

Was Rolled Between Belting and Machinery in Sixteen Inch Space.

Port Arthur, May 18.—After being whirled with lightning-like rapidity through a sixteen-inch space between the belting and the ceiling, over some machinery in the mill at Greer's camp at Mack's Siding until every particle of clothing was torn from him, Daniel McCulloch now lies in the St. Joseph Hospital here with his right leg broken and one shoulder badly shattered. He was fortunate in having escaped with his life. The injured man was brought to the city on a special train.

Civil Servants Wear Mourning.

Ottawa, May 18.—An order has been issued to the civil service calling upon all employees to wear appropriate mourning until after the funeral of the King. It is being generally observed.

HUGE CROWDS PAY RESPECT

Hundreds of Thousands see the Body of the Late King.

STOOD IN THE RAIN ALL NIGHT

Every Nation was Represented in the Line Which was Over a Mile Long.

London, May 18.—From six o'clock this morning when the doors of Westminster Hall where the body of King Edward is lying in state were again opened to the public, a sombre-clothed, silent multitude in four deep formations filed past the bier. The police with some tact and much patience maintained order and kept thousands moving steadily. The mourners entered at one end of the hall, double rows passing on either side of the catafalque and emerging at the opposite end of the building. When the doors were closed at ten o'clock last night between fifty and sixty thousand persons had viewed the casket while perhaps half that number were still waiting in an adjacent street. At eleven o'clock a new line formed and midnight found the waiting throng swollen by many thousands. Through the long vigil they stood with the purpose of paying their tribute to the dead monarch, despite the heavy fall of rain that made them most uncomfortable. The line extended for a mile or more and was made up of men, women and children of many classes. It was a strangely cosmopolitan throng. Every land and every color was represented. The laborer in corduroy touched elbows with the frock-coated, in the day they were separated by predominance. By noon the throng of those who had paid their respects passed the hundred thousand mark.

HEROINE OF LAW COURTS

Young Woman Visiting Here Won a $40,000,000 Suit.

WAS AGAINST U.S. GOVERNMENT

Miss Ida Belle Allison was Central Figure in Most Sensational Case in Supreme Court.

To have saved 40,000 acres of land valued at $40,000,000 for your people, and incidentally to have beaten the United States government in one of the most sensational cases in the history of the United States Supreme Court, is something that any man might be proud of, yet that is just exactly what Miss Ida Belle Allison, a charming young woman from Muskogee, Oklahoma, has done. Miss Allison is in the city at present, staying at the Windsor Hotel.

Miss Allison is one-sixteenth Cherokee and is proud of her Indian blood. In appearance she is the typical American girl, highly educated, and a fluent and entertaining conversationalist. She is of medium height, her features are clean cut and she is rosy checked and has a profusion of brown wavy hair. But her chief characteristic is her strong and compelling personality.

To see and talk to Miss Allison, one would never imagine that she was the heroine of a great law suit. She is as modest as she is charming, although she is proud of the fact that she was able to save the property of some two thousand of her people, she does not brag about it, and one might talk to her for an hour and never hear her say a word about it. Yesterday afternoon, however, in talking to a Capital reporter, Miss Allison gave a very graphic description of the case, and how it affected her people in Oklahoma.

"Away back in 1836," she began, in her charming way, "the United States government gave the Cherokee, Choctaw, and Chickasaw Indian tribes certain parts of the state in lieu of property that they had owned east of the Mississippi. In return for this land, which was very valuable, the government gave them land in the State of Oklahoma, which was then Indian territory, because they considered it valueless. For a while they held the land in common, and then the government, through its agents, partitioned it off among the various members and gave them their patents."

"They remained in undisputed possession until March 4th, 1907, when Secretary of the Interior Hitchcock, acting on the advice of Attorney-General Bonaparte, struck from the records 2000 names, on the grounds that the occupants of the territory had violated the rules. By this action 2000 families were deprived of their homes, and about 40,000 acres of land was expropriated from the government. I owned about 160 acres of the land and had no desire to become a pauper," said Miss Allison. "My brothers also owned land and it meant a big thing to us. So I determined to fight the thing in the courts. I had never had any experience in law suits, and my people all discouraged the attempts, but I decided to see the case through. I immediately engaged five of the best lawyers in the States by wire. All the proceedings had to take place in Washington. My lawyers launched the proceedings by securing a writ of mandamus against the Secretary of the Interior, the first in fourteen years."

Miss Allison's case was a test one, and so all proceedings in the new state of Oklahoma were suspended, awaiting the result. She carried the case from court to court and won in every instance. When the case reached the Supreme Court, the government had it placed on the first docket. The trial was rushed through in two weeks, and finally a unanimous verdict in favor of Miss Allison was handed down.

"When the news reached me in my home town," said Miss Allison, "I was the happiest girl in the world. I think it was nice to find that I had saved 40,000 acres of land to the Indians and their descendants."

J. W. REECE IN WITNESS BOX

Extradition Proceedings in Case of Mrs. Matthews were Continued.

DISLIKED THE INVESTIGATIONS

Oklahoma Attorney Repeats to District Court Mrs. Matthews' Account of Husband's Death.

The trial of Mrs. Matthews for extradition, was continued this morning in the District Court, when the prosecution established the authenticity of the affidavits made by residents of Stillwater. Mr. Robertson for Mrs. Matthews, objected on the grounds that the papers had been signed after the issue of the foreign warrant for her arrest. Judge Taylor said that so long as he had reasonable grounds to admit the evidence, it should be admitted, and the decision based on the sufficiency of evidence. Mr. Robertson's objection, he said, would be noted.

J. W. Reece, county attorney for Payne county, Oklahoma, who was in the box all the morning, stated that he had heard Mrs. Matthews make some statements in an informal way, concerning the death of her husband. Some time after the inquest on the body of Matthews, he said, Mrs. Matthews came to his office and spoke to him about his claim, going over the facts as she claimed them to be. She asked if "they were through inquiring or if the people were satisfied."

Mr. Reece asked her what she meant. She then said that she thought the investigations at her house were unnecessary. She was certain her husband had been killed to death by the mules.

She said she had gone to bed, leaving her husband downstairs and remarking to him that the rest of the stock in the barn ought to be turned out. Presently she heard the mules kicking so she told Matthews, who went out. After a while, as he did not return she began to get anxious. Dressing hurriedly, she went to the stable and there found him lying on his face behind the mules. She went to a neighbor named Thompson, who came back with her and helped her to carry the body into the house.

In answer to a question, Mr. Reece said that the only evidence of the inquest on the body of Matthews, was the report of the justice of the peace which was compiled afterwards from memory. But Mr. Reece was at the inquest, and was now asked by the prosecution to repeat the evidence he heard.

Mr. Robertson objected and the objection was allowed. During the session of the grand jury Mrs. Matthews and Mr. Lorry, her attorney, came to Mr. Reece's office, bringing with them a letter which had been sent to Mrs. Matthews, saying that the writer had some information which would be very beneficial to the receiver, and which could be bought for $35. Mrs. Matthews was to meet the writer at an appointed place. Mr. Reece appointed the deputy sheriff to look into the matter and he appointed him passed the place at the appointed time, but had seen neither Mrs. Matthews or the writer of the letter.

In the month of February following Mr. Reece stated that he had seen Mrs. Matthews and Chapman on the train going from Stillwater to Guthrie. Neither of them returned to Stillwater that evening. The court then adjourned till 2:30 this afternoon.

WHAT'S COMET GOING TO DO?

Earth is Passing Through its Tail Some Time To-Day.

WATCH OUT FOR SURPRISES

Gloomy Prophecies of Some Scientists do not Seem Likely to be Fulfilled.

Have you noticed anything yet? Well, touch wood or cross your fingers when you say you haven't and hold yourself in readiness for surprises for today this old earth of ours is taking a giddy, dare-devil ride right through the tail of the comet. And as for possibilities, twisting a lion's tail is mere child's play.

Today some of those worst-is-yet-to-come scientists said, was to be the last day of the whole human race. Poisons gases likely in the comet's wake were to do the deadly work. More cheerful men of science have assured us that there is nothing in this scare yarn and a most dignified sniffing has not disclosed to the ordinary nose that anything of the kind is in the air.

Astronomers Differ

Astronomers have not been able to agree just what is going to happen or when it is coming. Professor Hall of the Carnegie observatory at Mount Wilson, California, has calculated that the earth should enter the vapor about noon and splash around in it until about midnight. During this time he looks for shooting stars and peculiarly tinted clouds, but admits that it is all very problematical. He estimates the length of the comet's tail at from 200,000,000 to 250,000,000 miles and as the earth is about 150,000,000 miles from the comet, it will be a good distance from the end of the tail.

Toronto astronomers estimate the length of the tail at 150,000,000 miles and that the earth will just pass through the end of it. They say it should happen about nine o'clock to night, eastern time, and that the earth should be only two hours in the vapor. If that calculation is right any shooting star or other spectacular display should be visible here about eleven o'clock tonight, but local authorities say that it should happen early in the evening, so early, that on account of the late hour of sunset here, Alberta may see nothing of the weird phenomenon.

Between Earth and Sun

While the earth is passing through the tail the comet will be between the earth and the sun, itself an unusual event and one of great interest to astronomers.

"If this evening is clear," says H. N. Russell, Ph. D., "it will be of great interest to look out to look for an illumination of the sky. In the early evening, just after sunset, the comet's tail will be in the east, but a few hours later it will have passed over toward the west. It, as is sometimes said,

'WE WON'T KNOW IT' SAYS PROF. HALL

Washington, May 18.—Although the inhabitants of the earth will not know they are passing through the tail of a comet, neither seeing it or suffering and injury therefrom, beginning to night about eleven o'clock, New York time, and for four or five hours thereafter they will be in the midst of the tail of Halley's comet."

This statement was given out today by Prof. Hall of the Naval Observatory here. It is possible, he said, that there will be some meteoric showers approaching the earth during the next few years, the celestial wanderer which comes this way but once every three quarters of a century or so will begin to reappear.

The comet may be visible this evening in the west or perhaps on Thursday during the day light, provided its nucleus increases in intensity.

WILL PASS THROUGH CANADA

United States Troops Permitted to go Over Whitehorse Pass.

Ottawa, May 18.—The United States government some time ago made an application for permission for the passage through Canadian territory of their troops whom they desire to move from Skagway to Port Elbert via the White Horse Pass route. Permission has been granted on condition that the American troops will not display any colors while passing through Canadian territory, and that their arms will be stacked in boxes.

COMET AND RELIGION

Alexandria, Va., May 18.—Halley's comet is doing more in Alexandria and the surrounding country in Virginia for the church than all the revival and camp meetings have done in years past. The superstitious ones see nothing but dark forebodings in the comet's approach. Never before in the annals of the colored churches in this part of Virginia have so many new members had religious fever at one time.

PREMIER WAS THE WITNESS

Head of Government Began his Evidence This Morning.

THREE DRAFTS WERE TRACED

W. L. Walsh, K.C., Spent the Morning Going Over the Books of the Merchants Bank.

Premier Rutherford was on the stand all this morning at the sitting of the Royal Commission, and just at present it looks very much as though he would remain there for at least a couple of days yet. Mr. Johnstone conducted his examination this morning, and he is not through yet. Then after he is finished Mr. Bennett will proceed to cross-examine him, and it is altogether likely that Mr. Biggar will have a few questions to ask after that. The evidence elicited this morning was merely a history of the premier's connection with the granting of the charter and the guaranteeing of the bonds.

Just before the commission adjourned for lunch, Mr. Walsh announced that he had spent the morning with Mr. A. C. Fraser looking through the books of the Merchants bank. After a careful examination he was able to announce that the three drafts that W. R. Clarke had cashed on the 20th of February, 1909, and about which there was some suspicion because there was the day on which the legislature rose last year, had been traced. The first one, for $350 had been utilized in the purchase of a draft in favor of Moffat, the treasurer of the Athabasca Syndicate. Mr. Walsh also pointed out that this was the day on which Clarke accepted the option on the syndicate's charter. The other two drafts, one for $1000 and the other for $501, had been paid out in cash. The cashier stated that as far as he could remember he had paid the money to Clarke himself.

In answer to a question by Chairman Scott, Mr. Walsh stated that Mr. Fraser had power of attorney from J. K. Cornwall, and that he thought that there would be no objection to having the commission's counsel examine Cornwall's accounts with the bank.

Premier Rutherford

Premier Rutherford was the first witness called. Just before he took the box he mentioned casually that this was the first time in his life he had ever been in a witness box.

"I hope it will be the last," remarked Mr. Bennett.

The premier did not actually sit in the box this morning. He was given an arm chair just beside the stand. Mr. Johnstone examined him.

"When did you first have any conversation with Cornwall regarding a railway?"

"It was away back in 1907, when a delegation came to see the government."

"Who composed the delegation?"

"I can remember Mr. Cornwall, J. A. McDougall, J. H. Morris, J. F. Morris and possibly Mr. Hawes. I don't remember Mr. Faulkner. There were one or two others."

"Do you remember the date?"

"It was sometime in January, 1907."

"What did they want?"

"They urged on the government the necessity of having a railway built into the north country. They had no definite plans then."

"Who represented the government?"

"Mr. Cross, Mr. Finlay, Mr. Cushing and myself."

"Did they not suggest that it would be proper for the government to aid them?"

"It was discussed generally. I remember I told them how our governments helped railways. I just gave them a general history of how other provinces had helped railways."

"You knew, of course, that the delegation represented the Athabasca Railway Company?"

"Yes, I understood so."

"And no documents were presented at the meeting?"

"No."

No Aid Promised

"What was the result of the meeting?"

"Was any promise made?"

"No, none at all. It was distinctly

WEDNESDAY, MAY 18, 1910.

The Capital has all along urged the grouping of the city's public buildings around a central square. The present market property lends itself admirably to this purpose, and we would like to have seen the public library worked into such a general scheme. An exceptional opportunity now presents itself and we are confident that if the proposal were placed before them, a majority of the citizens would approve of it. Apparently, however, the council is not anxious to learn what the people think. They declared in an emphatic way that as a preliminary step they wanted the market removed from the square. But the aldermen have done nothing to carry out their wishes. In fact the proposal has been made at the council board that a market building should be erected on the square, making it certain that the property would be devoted to this purpose for many years to come. In view of this attitude of the council it is hardly surprising that the library board in choosing a site for that institution has not considered the civic centre scheme. It would be obviously absurd to place such a building opposite the market. Unless the whole library project was to be delayed, it was necessary to make some choice and the board has accordingly selected the property on the brow of the hill between the High School and the Edmonton Club. Under the circumstances, there could be none better. With the property on the south side of College avenue and that occupied by the High School retained for public purposes, as they must be, though the council is taking a dangerous chance that the former will fall into private hands, the surroundings will be all that could be desired. In addition there is the advantage of being close to the centre of things, while removed by a short distance from the noise of the business streets.

The following from the Leitch Herald is evidence that the leaves are working with our southern contemporary:—
"Every right-thinking citizen of Alberta must regret the feeling of antagonism that seems to be increasing between the northern and southern parts of the province, and every good citizen should do his utmost to allay that feeling. Nothing worse could happen than that this antagonism should increase so as to lead to a division of the province. The province is one whole and must remain so."
"While the south is developing much more quickly than the north, owing to the nature of the country, it must be remembered by the people of the south that in the northern part of the province is a vast area of great wealth, whose resources are scarcely imagined, much less known. What New Ontario is providing to Old Ontario, the hinterland of Alberta will yet show to the southern part of the province. When southern Alberta's resources are all known and are being developed, those of the far north will still be the subject of startling discoveries."

All this is quite true and because we in this part of the province have all along known it to be so and have staked so much on the great developments to the north which the Herald forecasts, we are keen to have it opened up with all possible speed. If conditions are as the Herald says, why has it allowed so many of its readers to be stampeded by the talk of Mr. Bennett and others about the wilderness that the only railway, which has shown enough faith in the north to start active construction work, would have been a Bennett argued that there would only be a few days' traffic each year over such a road. A patriotic Edmonton citizen wrote to the Herald about the folly of building a railway from Edmonton to the northern frontier of Canada three hundred miles further towards the north pole."

The Edmonton Bulletin declared that it would be at least a dozen years before the railway would pay its interest charges. If all these authorities are correct, the province is undoubtedly bound to suffer seriously from the consequences of a conspicuous piece of folly. It's all a matter of whether the country to the north of Edmonton is rich enough to warrant a railway's being built there. The view which the Herald now presents is one that the Capital has laid the utmost stress on from the first. It believes that a line to connect up the Mackenzie waterway with the transportation systems of the country will mean more to Alberta than any other project now before the province. This is why it has been so anxious to have it built.

The Vancouver Province refers to the report that Hon. Frank Oliver will this summer go overland to the Yukon via the Mackenzie river route and expresses the hope that it is correct. It would be a source of pleasure and profit to the minister.

"But," adds the Province, "it is not of the benefit to Mr. Oliver that we are thinking when we express the hope that he will find time and inclination to go on this journey. The information which he would gather of a very large, and, according to report, a very rich country, would be invaluable to him, as a Minister of the Crown and therefore to the people of Canada."

There is certainly no question of this if the minister's present opinion of the north country is represented by the editorial views of this paper. The birthday of the new King is June and, and the suggestion is made that it be observed as a public holiday instead of the 24th of May, seeing it comes so close to the latter date which, all admit, is at an ideal time of the year for such a purpose. This would be a mistake. "The 24th" has in the minds of Canadians, at least, become endeared by so many memories that there would be a general outcry against its abandonment. It should continue the one holiday which exists for the purpose of stimulating imperial sentiment. Hitherto it has overshadowed the first of July. Does imperial, therefore, exceed national patriotism? Granted that this has been the case in the past, we believe that a change will gradually take place. The two should make an equal appeal and the two holidays be, in all respects, complementary.

What Others Say

ARTEMUS WARD AND EDWARD (Toronto Star)

While the famous "Orange Arch" which caused so much trouble in Toronto in 1890, during the visit of the then Prince Albert Edward to Toronto, has been recalled by the King's demise, most people have probably forgotten that Artemus Ward enlivened the occasion in one of his "letters from Kansas" for Artemus is somewhat out of fashion with the reading public, however much he used to please Abraham Lincoln. Artemus, according to his epistle, had just been having an interview with "Albert Edward, the Prince of Wales" and was leaving him for home when—

"I met a lone percheron of men with goods onto 'em. The leader was on horseback & ridin' up to me he said: 'Ar you Oranage?'"

"Ske I. Which?"

"Air you a Orangeman?" he repeated sternly.

"I used to peddle lemons," said I, "but I never dealt in oranges. They are apt to spile on yure hands. What Parities notions! Aylum hey you & yure friends escaped from, I I may be so bold? Just then a sudden thwack me & I said: 'Oh, yure the fellows who air worryin' the Prince so & givin' the Juke of No-castle cold sweats at nine by yure infernal catalwain, air you?'"

"Well, take the advice of a Amerishin shtetzer, take off their goods & don't try to get up a religious fite, which is 40 times wuss nor a prize fite, over Elbert Edward, who wants to receive you all on a skal foodin', not keatin a tinkers' case what meetin' house you sleep in Sundays. Go home and mind yure business & don't make nooseens of yourselves." With which observations I left 'em.

It was during his "interview" with the Prince in Canada that Artemus originated the phrase "as good a man as your mother." "Yure a good feller, Albert Edward," he said, " & tho' I'm agin Princes as a general thing, I must say I like the son of yure Ed. When you git to be King, try an dbe as good a man as yure mother has bin." And it is on record that Edward did. Artemus apparently thought that it must be somewhat of a bore to go in to him in connection, for he represented the Prince as contributing the following remarks to the conversation:—

"To speak plain, Mister Ward," he said, "I don't much like it. I'm sick of all this bowin' & scrapin' & crawlin' & burrain' over a boy like me. I would rather go through the country quietly & in my own way, with the other boys, and not be made a show of, to be gaped at by everybody. When the people cheer me I feel pleased, for I know they mean it, but if these one-horse officials could know how I see through all their moves & understand exactly what they air after, & know how I larf at 'em in private, they'd stop kissin' my hands & fawnin' over me as they do now. But you know, Mr. Ward, I can't help being a Prince, & I must do all I kin to fit myself for the perishin I must summe opeky."

It is not unlikely that princes and kings feel sometimes just as tired of official homage as Artemus represented the Prince to be.

PEACE

(Montreal Witness)

The historian Clarendon remarks that St. Paul knew well that the peaceable inclinations and disposition of subjects could do little good for if sovereign princes were disposed to war, while if they desired to live peacefully with their neighbors their subjects could not but be happy. His reference was to the instruction to pray for kings that we may lead a quiet and peaceable life. Such advice was, of course, the more applicable when kings were absolute and autocratic than it is in the case of limited monarchies, but the kingly influence even in the latter case is a mighty one, as we have seen, and King Edward proved himself of those of whom it was said: "Blessed are the peacemakers, for they shall be called the children of God." It was his fervent desire to see the divine command obeyed. If we have such, and King Edward shall be down, and none shall make you afraid." We cannot, says Clarendon, make a more lively representation and emblem to ourselves of Hell than by the view of a kingdom, in war, where there is nothing to be seen but destruction and fire, and the discord itself is a great part of the torment; nor a more sensible reflection on the joys of heaven than as it is all quiet and peace, and where nothing is to be discerned but constant harmony, and what is amiable in all circumstances of it. And, concludes the mentor, as far as we may warrantably judge the inhabitants of either climate, they who love and cherish discord among men, and take delight in war, have large mansions provided for them in that region of faction and disagreement; so we may presume that they who set their hearts upon peace in this world, and labor to promote it in their several stations amongst all men, and who are instrumental to prevent the breach of it amongst prince and states, or to renew it when it is broken, have infallible title to a place and mansion in heaven; where there is only peace in that perfection that all other blessings are comprehended in it and a part of it. Clarendon knew of the horrors of war by personal experience, and he spoke from the heart when he declared: "War breaks all that order, interrupts all that devotion, and even extinguishes all that zeal which peace had kindled in us; lays waste the dwelling-place of God as well as man; and introduces and promotes opinions and practices as much against heaven as against earth, and erects a deity that delights in nothing but cruelty and blood." As none but a blind man could ask why any man should be delighted with beauty, so no man can ask how or why men come to be dignified with peace, but who without natural bowels or is deprived of all those affections which can only make life pleasant to him. "Peace is that harmony in the state that health is in the body. No kingdom can flourish or be at ease in which there is no peace. Those who delight most in war are so ashamed of it that they pretend to desire nothing but peace—that their heart is set on nothing else." And some of the latter are not exactly hypocrites, but self-deceived. Under Edward VII. we have all felt the blessed effect of universal peace; and he has left us peace and the desire for the preservation of peace as a blessed legacy.

CHAPLAIN PRAYED FOR MUCKRAKERS

Aged Clergyman Caused a Little Sensation in the United States House of Representatives.

Washington, D. C., May 18.—The Rev. Henry N. Couden, the blind chaplain of the House of Representatives, astonished his members today by praying for divine guidance to lead muckrakers to "rake before their own doors before attending to the litter in front of their neighbors' houses." After expressing gratitude for every upward tendency in the individual towards a life of justice, truth and righteousness, the chaplain continued: "Since the purity of the home depends on the purity of those who compose it, the character of the nation depends on the people who make up the nation. Help us, therefore, as individuals, to strive earnestly to cast out the beam from our own eye, that we may see clearly to pull the mote out of our brothers' eye."

"If we are to become muckrakers help us to rake before our own doors, and if we have time, then let us help our neighbor. Since cant and hypocrisy are the most heinous of all sins, deliver us, we pray thee, from them."

Will Spend $2,000,000

Montreal, May 18.—Two million dollars will be spent within the next two years on the new plant for the Montreal Steel Works, Limited, for which thirty-five acres of land were acquired at Longue-Pointe, some months ago, and work is to be started almost immediately. Messrs. K. W. Blackwell, president, and Jas. Reid Wilson, and W. F. Angus, vice-president, have just returned from a visit to the leading steel concerns of the United States and they state that the new Montreal plant will be one of the most important in the country. The site runs down to the river front, where first-class shipping and landing facilities are at hand, while the Canadian Northern Railway forms one boundary.

The moment the body leaves the hall, all cars on the tramways system in London will come to a standstill, remaining stationary for a quarter of an hour.

PARKIN TALK
A BIG BLUFF

He had no Real Information for Commission.

BENNETT DENIES STATEMENTS

Says That Parkin was Once Mixed up in an Election Scandal in Canada.

Mr. J. F. McMillan, manager of the Royal Bank, was the witness in yesterday afternoon's sitting of the Royal Commission. Before he was called to the stand, Mr. Walsh asked permission to make a statement regarding the man Parkin, who has gained some notoriety in connection with the investigation. Mr. Walsh said that while in Winnipeg, Mr. Johnson and he made inquiries after Parkin and located him in Minneapolis. They had a talk with him, and endeavored to obtain certain information which Parkin professed to know. However, he refused to make any disclosures, whatever, and all Messrs. Walsh and Johnson succeeded in doing was to get an order from him so they could inspect some papers which turned out to be copies of documents that had previously been produced before the commission. Events led Mr. Walsh to believe that Parkin knew nothing, and that his "air of mystery" was the result of a vivid imagination stimulated, for the same, by alcohol.

Mr. Bennett also had something to say in connection with Parkin. He stated that the story that he had investigated Parkin to remain out of the jurisdiction of the commission and keep certain documents out of the way was absolutely without foundation.
Mr. Bennett said that according to this story Parkin's price was to be a gift of land situated around Calgary. At present Parkin is in custody in Minneapolis, and has confessed to the police that he was not acting under Mr. Bennett's orders. Some years ago, according to Mr. Bennett, Parkin was implicated in an election scandal, and left the country. Mr. W. R. Clarke told him he was to be a director and that was the extent of his knowledge at the time. He had received a letter from Mr. Merrill, general manager of the bank which contained the stock certificate and information that he was to look after the bank's interests in its transactions with the construction company.

Asked what he knew of Mr. W. A.
Wolf, witness said that Mr. Wolf was president of the Royal Bank and was the head of a syndicate of Mon-trealers who guaranteed the bank against loss through its advancement of funds to the construction company. Mr. Johnson then went into minute details in regard to the transaction between the bank and the construction company.

Mr. McMillan stated that there-arrangement with the Montreal syndicate, headed by Mr. Holt was that it was to receive $250,000 for guaranteeing the bank against loss. No reference to the interest due the Morgan syndicate on the bonds, witness said, that a note was discounted and that it was still running.

Had Not an Active Interest

Witness was asked about the expenditures of the construction company, but he said that he had not an active interest in the concern and so was not familiar with its disbursements as far as construction was concerned. He produced, however, accounts of salaries paid to Engineer Darling and others, and recognized the letter written by Mr. Darling, discharging the company from further liability to him.

Mr. Bennett brought out the fact that Dr. Waddell carried two accounts with the Royal Bank. He asked the witness if either of them was a private debt. Mr. McMillan stated that neither of them was private but that one had been arranged by Mr. Clarke and the other one was for all moneys that came through the construction company.

"I understand that you were to receive the agreement between the Montreal syndicate and the construction company for your perusal. Did you get it?"

"No."

Before the witness stepped down
Mr. Johnson asked why it was that the interest on the bonds was paid to
P. Morgan & Co., instead of D. S.
Morgan & Co. Witness could not explain it.

Mr. Fraser Recalled

Mr. Fraser then recalled to the stand and produced some additional evidence that he had secured upon closer examination of the bank's books. He showed that in the first week in April Mr. Godard had made a draft on the United States Trust Co.
of Kansas City for $10,000 for money to be used in the interests of the construction company.

Mr. Bennett asked the witness if the teller of the bank had any record of the three drafts that were drawn on the same day. Mr. Fraser wasn't sure but when Messrs. Walsh and Johnson examined the books they will be recorded the liberty of also examining the books of the teller.

The commission will not sit on Friday owing to the King's funeral but as it is in a hurry to get through the task of evidence it may sit on Victoria Day.

CANADA NAVY
TO BURN OIL

Reported That New Ships will be Built That Way.

ADMIRAL KINGSMILL SAYS SO

Oil has Many Advantages as a Fuel and Canada has Fuel Supplies to Draw From.

Ottawa, Ont., May 18.—There is every probability that the new ships which Canada will build for her navy will use oil fuel. Admiral Kingsmill says that the new ships would probably use the new form of fuel, provided the oil could be secured conveniently in Canada.

As, of course, Canada does produce a considerable quantity of crude oil, this is practically a guarantee that the oil system will be adopted. Besides the new and ever-increasing market which this means for Canadian oil,
it means too, that the Canadian navy, however small to begin with, will be equipped in the most up-to-date manner.

The Nixie are the Rainbow are coal ships, but on others, which are yet to be built, the oil fuel will obviate a score of disadvantages in fueling.
The oil will be piped on board and will be less smoke, and therefore, less
"tell tale," from the ships' funnels.
The decks will not require the same amount of holystoning which is necessary when coal is burned. And the work of stoking will be reduced to comparatively no labor at all.

While the United States naval officers are said to be contemplating the installation of oil fuel systems in all their vessels, Great Britain is said to have learned more concerning this fuel than any other maritime nation.
Her secret in this line will benefit
Canada's new service.

He Bought His Own Horse

Toronto, May 18.—James Montgomery purchased a horse at Maher's Exchange, on Hayden street for $80. Alter he took the best home it seemed to have something about it that looked familiar, and it finally dawned on Montgomery that it was the horse he for $40. When he purchased it back from the Exchange he had paid $10 cash, and given a cheque for $70. He sued in the Division Court before Judge Morrow and a jury for $70. He wants the court to force Maher to take back the horse.

Montgomery, in his evidence, said:
"I didn't recognize the horse when I bought it."

Government Wins $12,100,000

New York, May 18.—The second trial of the civil suit brought by the United States government against Charles F. W. Neely, who was in charge of the bureau of finance during the American military occupancy of Cuba, resulted this afternoon in the jury bringing in a verdict for $12,100,000 in favor of the government. The case was tried before Judge Hand.

It is alleged that while Neely was in charge of the department embezzle-ments amounting to $14,000,000 occurred. Neely was arrested on a criminal charge, but owing to the general amnesty which was declared when Gov.
Palma became president of the island republic the prosecution had to be dropped.

Weird Experiences in Numbers of Mrs. Stella McCourtie.

DID NOT BRING HER BAD LUCK

She Won at Cards and is Tackling Matrimony in Spite of Hoodoo.

Chicago, May 18.—If Mrs. Stella Mccourtie, of 248 Washington boulevard were all inclined to be superstitious she would demand police protection. She has run into so many forms of the hoodoo thirteen that she says it won't cause her much sorrow to leave Chicago next week, as she plans doing—returning east to be married.
Mrs. Mccourtie is a charter member of the Crystal Bridge club, a woman's card club of the west side, which met at the residence of Mrs.
M. H. Green, 2703 Warren avenue.

Just See What Happened

Here are some of the things she encountered:
The party was held on Friday, the thirteenth.

It was the thirteenth meeting held since organization.

The meeting place was located in the Thirteenth ward.

There were thirteen women present.
In drawing for places Mrs. Mccourtie was the thirteenth to draw and drew card number thirteen.

By agreement, the drawer of this card was compelled to answer a catechism of thirteen questions.

"I have just checked up to make sure that I have not three more than the regulation number of fingers," said Mrs. Mccourtie, "and, much as I hate to, I must admit that I've seen many more than thirteen summers. I just know that when I pass through New York I shall be piloted to a hotel near Thirteenth street, and that hellboy 13 will take me to room No.

1313."

Not Alarming for Wedding

To complete her dismay, the hostess made public announcement of the fact that next week, the "hoodoo subject" is to leave for Springfield, where she is to be married to W. H. McCour-tie, a cousin of her former husband.
The prospective bride says her strenuous day is not causing her any alarm about the wedding, and dares the groom-elect to think of Friday, the 13th as a portent.

Entering into the spirit of the day,
she turned the joke on the others of the club, and after achieving a "grand slam" by taking all thirteen tricks with two successive partners, she won the prize of the day, a cut glass vase.

She examined it critically, and said,
"Well, I'm glad it cost more than 13 cents, anyway," and went home, skipping on every thirteenth step.

Attacks Soldier's Home

Washington, D.C., May 18.—The national soldiers' home at Danville, Ill., has been branded before congress in a speech by Representative Cox, of Ohio as a typical example of alleged reckless extravagance in the management of these institutions.

No department of the government,
Mr. Cox asserted, is guilty of wasting public funds to the extent found to exist in the disbursements for the homes of disabled soldiers.

Mr. Cox's statements aroused unusual interest among his colleagues, and it became evident that there would be a hard fight on the soldiers' home item of $3,000,000 in the pending sundry civil appropriation bill.

Local Optionists Buy Hotel

Alma, Cal., May 18.—Both of the local hotel keepers having threatened to close their hotels when local option came into force, the temperance people thought the Queen's hotel, and will operate it.

CENTRAL ALBERTA FOR WINTER WHEAT

It is the opinion of those who are in a position to judge that the central and northern portions of Alberta will soon become noted for the production of winter wheat.

The regular snowfall of our winters gives a certainty of protection to the plants which is a very important factor to their successful growth. The melting of the snow in the spring provides sufficient moisture to keep the wheat in a healthy condition until the spring rains come in May. The rapid growth of the grain and the early maturity is then practically assured.

There is ample proof in the country surrounding Edmonton that we have the natural conditions for the growth of winter wheat.
We have yet to learn of a field in this district where the wheat is not in a thoroughly healthy condition. In this respect, the crop conditions present rather a sharp contrast to those at present prevailing in the more southerly part of the province, which somewhat curiously and without any adequate justification, has been regarded as having a monopoly of the production of winter wheat. The writer's observations during a recent visit to Southern Alberta during which very careful enquiries were made, convince him that conditions tend to show that conditions are very much more favorable here for the production of winter wheat than in the south, where the uncertain snowfall and exceedingly dry fall and spring account for the less favorable condition of winter wheat.

It remains for the enterprising farmers of this district to prove the possibilities of the country in this particular. If the winter wheat question is studied thoroughly, and proper methods adopted, there is no reason that Edmonton may not become the centre of the province for the production and marketing of Alberta Red Wheat.

DOC. ROLLER WAS VERY GAME

Though Zbysko Dislocated his arm, the Seattle Mat Artist Pluckily Tried to Continue.

Buffalo, N.Y., May 17.—Stanislav Zbysko, Polish wrestler and a candidate for Frank Gotch's title of champion has night defeated Dr. Roller, of Seattle. Dr. Roller was badly hurt when the Pole slammed him to the mat for the first fall. It was announced that Dr. Roller was returning to the ring for the second bout against the advice of his seconds and when he re-appeared it was seen that his left arm hung helpless by his side. Zbysko quickly got behind his opponent and when he began working up to the injured arm, Dr. Roller quit.

SACRIFICE HITS

Glints From the Baseball Diamond—To be Continued in our Next.

Oh, you Captain Kidd!

Has anybody here seen Carney?

Attendance 800. Not too bad for a rainy afternoon.

It should not be termed a free-living game.

Old Olsen again showed that he is the best centre fielder in the League.

When is the new press-box to make its appearance?

Drive them back to the Irrigation Canal, Deacon.

Maybe those crowded bleachers didn't tear off your roofing.

Some sounds verging on singing were wafted on the evening breeze from the far end of the bleachers.

The beating we will give Leithridge and some of the other weak teams, makes us almost weep to think of.

Longenecker umpired a game yesterday that would be very hard to improve on.

Eskimo players are not afraid of spooks. They welcomed a ghost very prettily yesterday afternoon.

Glance over Dell's list of strikeouts. They all look like Carney's heavy hits.

Johnny Brennan batted right handed yesterday and made a single. Sick to it, Jack, we are all wide yep.

Mills was the hitting kid yesterday and also cut Tallant out of a three tacker.

Our old college chum Pete Standridge looks better this year than last. But he has not improved as much as Grehan.

Catcher Spencer will work behind the plate today, and Southpaw McLean is about due for a trip to the lab.

Dell-Dellar. They sound alike, they are about the same size and they perform in the same manner. Can you tie it?

The Altieros does not give much space to the 15 innings game last Monday. Calgary papers can't understand it.

There was a funny incident after the game when two gentlemen in a hotel, each player places after his name the words, "Maple Leafs, going up."

Paddock, Calgary's new pitcher, will be in town today. Carney had intended keeping him in Calgary until Saturday, but sent a C. Q. D. message last night. Things began to look serious. And the worst is yet to come, Bill.

When the Toronto team registers at a hotel, each player places after his name the words, "Maple Leafs, going up."

RICKARD CHOSEN AS REFEREE

Tex Takes the Appointment Temporarily—Berger and Johnson Nearly Came to Blows.

San Francisco, Calif., May 18.—Tex Rickard, selected with Jack Gleason in the promotion of the Jeffries-Johnson fight, and who came into prominence four years ago when he engineered the Gans-Nelson fight at Goldfield, Nevada, was yesterday elected to referee the fight between the two heavyweights on July 4th at Emeryville. In accepting the place, however, the Nevada promoter made it clear that he would step aside if Jeffries and Johnson agreed on another man.

Just before the compromise was reached Rickard interjected, "I'll referee this fight, but I'll be black man," at the same time applying another epithet besides black. This remark was carried to Johnson who warned Berger never to call him that name again. Berger denied that he had said any such thing of the kind, but Johnson's followers declared he did. "You're just an educated dog," said Johnson, "Now come out and fight if you want to. I'll give a thousand dollars if you will come right out with me and fight three rounds." They were finally quieted and the session was resumed.

ESKIMOS AND HUSKIES PLAY EIGHT INNINGS TIE GAME

Dell and Standridge Only Allowed Seven Hits—Score 0-0—Both Teams Played Errorless Ball.

To use a hackneyed phrase, yesterday's ball game was a pitchers' battle. For eight innings the Eskimos and Huskies walked to the plate and then walked back again, and echo answered everything done. The only other team took a like scoring was in Calgary's half of the eighth, when with two out, Dell issued a couple of passes, filling the cushions. Then the Vancouver giant settled down to him, and fanned Smith, ending the game.

Pitchers Were Good

Both Standridge and Dell pitched elegant ball and the hits were few and far between. Eskimos annexed five well-scattered singles, a couple of which were of the scratchy order, while Carney's brain annexed the huge lot of two. Standridge was as strong as Russell Sage, issuing only one pass and fanning six, while Dell gave five passes and struck out the same number. Gill-gled support was the order of the day and for colour of both teams, the Eskimos were represented by a huge goose egg, which is as it should be. Stanley and Ward both played vastly improved games and only three bases were stolen, Brennan, Smith and Tallant being the shoving prodigies.

Old Olsen got the lone sacrifice hit.

Carney Was Fined

Olsen furnished a mild sensation when he started some hilarious coaching in the fifth. Longenecker couldn't stand for the noise and beckoned the shoving prodigies to join him. Carney showed no enthusiasm to join his hired men, so his Umpire, sped the parting guest with a five dollar fine.

Snappy Fielding

Olsen pulled off a few more sensational catches in centre pasture and Mills grabbed two hot liners out of the jaws of death. The latter also had his batting eye allotted up and was to the front with two nice singles.

Both teams are playing Class A ball at present and seem very evenly matched. The remaining two games should be ring-batted snorters and will be dead ones to miss.

For the day after the opening, yesterday's attendance was a wonder. In spite of the drizzling rain all day, 800 fans bought; paste boards and were well rewarded for their courage in braving the elements.

Catcher Spencer arrived yesterday afternoon and was in uniform. He will likely do the receiving this evening. Game called at 6:15.

Play by Innings

First—Flanagan did to Morse and then Dell struck out Carney and Cynes, the two heavy hitters. No runs.

Edmonton—Mills hit safely to centre. Ole sacrificed him to second. Carney and Kelly disposed of Baxter and Luss. No runs.

Second—Smith died to Luss and Kelly. Standridge. Tallant got a bingle to right and with Cornors up, was out on an attempted steal. No runs.

Edmonton—Morse grounded, pitcher to first. Brennan fanned the air. Third grounded, Smith to Kell. No runs.

Third Innings—Dell and Morse fished Connors. Stanley received a charity bat stood on first and watched Peter and Flanagan knock high. No runs.

Edmonton—Ward started the innings by fanning. Dell grounded Standridge to Kell. Mills got his second bingle over second. Carney making fine try for it. Olsen got on balls, but was forced at second on Baxter's grounders. No runs.

Fourth Innings—Carney knocked a line drive to Mills who pulled off nice running catch. Luss and Baxter got Cynes. Smith fell victim to Dell's benders. No runs.

Edmonton—Luss knocked a screamer to Smith. The fell fellow made a fine stop and peg, catching Bill at first. Morse grounded to pitcher. Brennan drove one at Smith, too hot to be held and made first. Gonche made third try by fanning. No runs.

received a $5 plaster when he stopped to argue the matter with the ump. Kelly called to Mills. Tallant was passed. Connors fanned to Ward and Stanley then drew four wide ones. Standridge died to centre. No runs.

Edmonton—Ward and Dell went on grounders to short and pitcher. Mills then hit one at a mile a minute square at Peter. The smiling pitcher held up his hand and the ball spun. This robbed Mills of a sure hit. No runs.

Sixth—Flanagan and Carney died to the outfield. Cynes died, Dell to Baxter. No runs.

Edmonton—Olsen called out on strike. Baxter and Luss knocked grounders to third and second. Mooses attempt was a pretty bun and the throw just beat him to the bag. No runs.

Seventh—Smith beat out a grounder to deep short and was forced at second on Kelly's grounders. Pete Morse. Mills took Tallant's line drive on the dead run and saved a score as the hit was ticketed for extra bases. Connors died to ohmy Brennan. No runs.

Edmonton—Morse knocked a fly to Dell. Took like a homer, but Cynes was playing very deep and snatched it. Brennan popped to Kelly. Gonche knocked a boulder over Smith's head, so it certainly did sound like Pop, but our hopes of a corner were dashed to terra firma when Dell died to Flanagan. No runs.

Eighth—Calgary looked very, very dangerous in its innings, but Dell pitched himself out of a tight corner. Stanley, first up, struck out. Peter got in front of a bender and ambled to Baxterville. Flanagan then tore off a daisy cutter to Morse and Peter snatched his namesake at second.

Carney then received an intentional base on balls and Cynes was hit in drawing a gyle. With all corners occupied and two up, it was very much up to Dell and Smith. Our elongated sub artia was the candy kiddo and pulled Willy's leg, with three visitors.

Edmonton—Edwards didn't look much like a pitcher. Mills grounded, then was thrown out by Smith. No Carney to Kell, Ole fanned and Baxter. Game called in account of darkness.

NO MORE HOCKEY IN RENFREW

Bill O'Brien, the Millionaire, Decided That he is Through With It—The Beginning of the End.

Ottawa, May 18.—Rumors have been consistent in this locality lately as to the changes in the National Hockey League for next winter, and the latest story that is going the rounds is one to the effect that M. J. O'Brien, the Renfrew millionaire and chief backer of the all-star Creamery Town septette had dropped from the roster of the Renfrew Club, and would not be interested in sports hereafter.

The story in view of the plans that have been laid out at the Creamery Town for a grand raid at the Stanley Cup next winter comes as a surprise, but a couple of the big magnates shook their heads knowingly when spoken to on the matter.

A well known sportsman, who formerly figured prominently in local politics, is authority for the statement that Mr. O'Brien would retire this year, a conversation with the Renfrew money king being a basis of his story.

Renfrew nearly broke the hearts of the Creamery Town backers, and though the red and white aggregation of hockey stars wallowed the Montrealers in the subsequent series, the New York City, they never fully recovered from the shock that Paddy Doran's despised hockey machine handed them right on their own ice.

It was then rumored that Renfrew would not be represented in the National next season, and while the Creamery Town sports men were in the process of retaining the big pro league franchise, the absence of Mr. M. J. O'Brien should be retired from the game will be severely felt among the high financiers of the Ottawa Valley hub.

The Hat Got Thirteen

Medicine Hat, May 17.—Southpaw Letrie had it on Medicine Hat's today of left-handed batters today. Letrie, who never fully recovered from the shock that Harper lined out a two-bagger. Shaffer, on the other hand, was wild as a hawk and when he did put them over they were just to the liking of the Leithridge rollers. It was a day off for the local fielders and they fell down badly.

The Hibernian Team.

The following team will represent the Hibernians in their game with the Callies tomorrow night: George King, backs; Martin and Matthews, halves; Speakman, McNeil, Willis, forwards; Grant, McArthur, Martin, Haffelin, Hutton, reserves; Armstrong and Conradi. Referee, Miller.

M.A.A.A.'s Membership is 4,000.

Montreal, May 16.—An excellent financial statement was today sent out by the M.A.A.A. showing a membership of 4,000. The revenue for the last year was $80,645, with expenses of $69,844, leaving a balance of $10,800 to capital account, a very considerable increase over last year's figures.

Will Be Some Arena

Meanwhile the contractors who will build the immense arena for the Jeffries-Johnson fight at Emeryville are going ahead with the structure, which will contain 80,000 feet of lumber held together by 272 kegs of nails, will be octagon in shape, 380 feet across and will seat 35,000 spectators. The cost will be $25,000 and work will begin on June 1. There will be eight entrances and exits, so that ticket-holders can reach their seats with little or no confusion. It is understood that in case of an excessive demand for seats an extra tier can be added to the top of the big stands without much inconvenience. Rickard and Gleason, however, figure that the crowd will not exceed the 35,000 mark, and that there will be plenty of room for all comers.

"One of the funniest sights on Broadway," says the New York Mail, "is to see Bugs Raymond travelling around with his keeper. Bugs says the keeper is a good sport, and he would have quit the Giants, only he didn't want the guy to lose his job. The fellow's name is Fuller, and Bugs pulled this one on him: 'No matter how full I get you'll be fuller.'"

As Smooth as Silk

Silk O'Laughlin stays in the limelight. He worked first time Wednesday in New York in the game Russell Ford beat Detroit, or rather "Silk" had his turn behind the bat Wednesday, and made the most of it. "Never did his clarion voice ring out with more vigor. His 'S-T-R-I-K-E' sounded the way a prairie fire looks, and his 'Ball Tuh' was working like a little toy engine. They're always glad to see 'Silk' in the town, because like Tim Lince, he has some individuality, and any time an umpire has individuality, or anything else except a blue suit and a cap, the fans are for him. 'Silk' had an easy day, mostly because he allowed an angry ball player to make it a hard day.

Wonderful Condition of Smoke

San Francisco, Calif., May 17.—Jack Johnson did his first gymnasium training on Sunday and any suspicions as to the condition of the colored heavy weight were entirely dispelled by the way in which he went through his game. Before a crowd of about 2,000 persons Johnson went through the ordinary routine exercise and wound up by boxing eight full three minute rounds. Veteran followers of the game had their eyes opened at the way Johnson tackled work ahead of him. In every department of boxing he showed himself a master.

Wagner out of Game

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 18.—Captain Fred Clarke of the Pittsburgh team tonight issued a statement as to the cause and extent of Hans Wagner's injuries, which he said was warranted by many rumors and false reports in the pattern. "In the last game when Wagner slid into third base and his shoulder came into contact with McIlven's foot. The top of the shoulder was bruised and hurt is a painful one. A slight cold aggravated the soreness and stiffened the muscles. Wagner wanted to lay off, fearing he would not do himself justice, but I prevailed on him to remain at his post. The game and Miller cooked up the exchange of positions to make Wagner's work lighter."

The Official W. C. L. Ball

The Calgary Herald, during the course of a learned article, says, "Our kick on the Goldsmith ball that was adopted for use in the Western Canada League, 'Edmonton seems to like the idea of taking another stab at President Eckstrom, and agrees with Regina in their protest.' Well, the Capital was not speaking merely for the sake of kicking, but because the ball in use is not up to the standard. We are borne out in our assertion by no less a personage than Manager Carney of the Calgary team. Mr. Carney, during the course of a conversation with the Capital, said, 'The balls used yesterday in the Calgary-Edmonton game were nearly all light and the wind carried them around at random. It is not absolutely necessary that the Reach or Spalding ball should be used by leagues playing under the National Agreement, but it is an understood fact, that these makes are generally used.'"

But the wise guys that run this league, know better than Ban Johnson and Lynch.

Sam Frock and Bud Sharpe have both broken into the game for Boston nicely.

On July 25, 1896, Harry Davis played first base for Pittsburgh against the first game. He's the Harry Davis who is still playing with the Athletics.

WHAT'S COMING GOING TO DO?

posed, the tail is a hollow cone of light, there will be two times as much light as in the ordinary case. It is brightly illuminated, separated by an interval while we are in the darker centre of the tail. Meanwhile, observers on the opposite side of our planet will have the rare privilege of seeing the sun through the comet's head. Only the extreme western portion of the United States is included in this favored region, but as the comet enters upon the sun's disk at 6.22 p. m. by Pacific standard time and remains on it till 7.22, the transit will be visible all along the coast. The comet passes almost squarely across the centre of the sun from west to east.

Need Big Telescopes. "Paradoxical as it may seem, it is probable that the ordinary observer, armed with a small telescope and dark glasses, will not be able to detect even the slightest trace of the comet's passage. With powerful instruments the nucleus, if solid, might be seen as a dark speck against the sun, but it is over 50 miles in diameter, but it is improbable that it is anything like so large, for the whole amount of light reflected from the comet when remote from the sun is no more than a single sun 30 miles across would give."

"It is possible, too, that the absorption of the gases, composing the envelopes of the head and tail may be detected by means of the spectra of the comet, and as we will be looking through the tail lengthwise, nearly 150,000 miles of it will be there to exert any possible effect on the sun's light. Even so, it will not be surprising to many astronomers if nothing unusual is detected."

"Such negative results will however be scientifically valuable, since they will enable us to say that the material composing the comet does not exceed certain limits of mass or density."

A Rare Event

"Transit of comets across the sun are a rare event. The most remarkable previous instance is that of the great comet of 1882, which, though so bright that it could be seen close to the sun in broad daylight with the naked eye, vanished completely when in front of the sun's disk, showing that it was practically perfectly transparent."

"On the evening of the 19th we may perhaps already see the comet's tail in the evening sky, though its head will set while the twilight is still in its strength. On the 20th, however, it will be visible till about 9 p. m., on the 21st till 10.20, and on the 25th and afterward until 11 p. m."

TWELVE DIE, 30 INJURED

Large Tin Plate Factory Destroyed by Boiler Explosion.

Canton, O., May 18.—At the south end plant of the American Sheet and Tin Plate company here yesterday twelve people were killed and twenty-five injured in an explosion in the boiler room of the plant.

At the same time flames broke out in the plant, which was practically demolished by the force of the explosion, and the fire department was called in to battle with the flames and prevent as many deaths as possible from the smoke and flames. Workmen were blown into the air in fragments which were scattered about adjoining lots. Pieces of bodies were found tightly lodged in trees or lying on porches or anchored on the roofs of adjoining buildings. Lying about the plant were other bodies of the victims, some minus heads or arms, some without legs, and some so black they cannot be recognized.

The missing and dead are: George K. Lantry, Charles Royer, Charles Dewitt, Walter Ringberger, George Bole, Charles Brown, J. Henry Jack, Wheeland, Harry Helzley, H. Lohman, Peter Wohlgemuth, unidentified man, P. Danzig, Charles Richards.

A portion of one boiler was blown a distance of over 1,000 feet over tops of surrounding buildings endangering many lives and doing much damage.

All five of the mills connected with the plant are a total wreck. Arms and legs of men are scattered about the plant and one is so horribly mutilated that it may never be identified. The force of the explosion was terrific. The body of one man, unknown, blown through the house of Henry Rued, over 700 feet from the plant. The body entered the house from the east side and continued in a straight line through a bedroom, and out the other side of the house. The corpse of another man was found in the garden of a yard about five hundred feet west of the scene.

are formed to protect the country in time of danger, and the local militia can also be called out in times of local stress, when the ordinary police force is unable to cope with the situation. "The regiment here is under a peculiar set of circumstances," continued the colonel. "Our ranks have decreased fully 50 per cent, since last fall. This is because of the floating character of the population, which gives to the city the reason I would like to see the city help the local militia in every way possible."

Council Approves

Major Griesbach of the 18th A. M. R. heartily endorsed what Col. Edwards had said. Other members of the delegation present were Major Griesbach, Captains Armstrong and Adamson and Lieut. Delevant.

Ald. McNis thought that giving the militia free passes over the street railway was a dangerous precedent, but he thought tickets at a reduced price, say for a dollar, might be given to the city officers of the regiments. He was quite willing that they should be exempted from the poll-tax.

Ald. Hyndman agreed with the doctor, and moved that the matter be left to the special committee to report at as early a date as possible. Ald. Gariepy thought it would be better to give the militia a straight grant for street car fares. He seconded the motion and it carried.

Col. Edwards thanked the council for their prompt action and the red coats then left in a body.

Invited to All Saints

An invitation from Archdeacon Grey of All Saints Church asking the Mayor and council to attend a special memorial service on Friday at 11 o'clock was accepted. Special services were arranged for the council and the commissioners were instructed to complete any arrangements necessary.

Public Library Site

A report from C. Ross Palmer, chairman of the Public Library board, stating that they had decided that the site for the Public Library should be that parcel of land on College street lying between the Edmonton Club and the High School. The price for this property is $25,000. It has a frontage of 100 feet and 130 feet depth. Secretary Cronkall read over the minutes which were read to expire on April 11, 1910.

"Why, that option has expired," said Ald. Hyndman.

The Mayor explained that arrangements had been made to have the option extended.

"Then all that rignature means that the land too feet west of the Edmonton Club is available?" asked Ald. McNis.

To Secure Options

Ald. Gariepy then moved that the commissioners be asked to secure options on the property and that the by-law be prepared.

"It seems to be that a public library is not a necessity," said Ald. McNis. "Of course, if the people want it they'll get it, no doubt, but so many money by-laws to come before the people that I think we ought to let this go over until next year."

Too Many Bylaws Now

Ald. McKinley thought it would be a good thing to have the matter rest until the present bylaws were decided. "If the hospital bylaw is defeated we can put the public library bylaw, if it comes up, on the table till next year," he suggested.

Ald. Gariepy admitted that the city should be careful in their financial expenditures, but he thought as there had been an agitation for a library for the past five years, it ought to be left to the people now.

"It is only a matter of $25,000," said he, "and if we don't want to use the land for a library site, we will always be able to dispose of the land at a profit."

Agreement with Gas Company

A draft agreement between the Pintsch artificial gas company of New York and the city, was read and approved. The agreement gives the company power to erect a plant here, and lay its pipes from the plant to the various railway companies. The agreement demands that the construction of the plant be commenced within six months, after the plans are submitted and approved by the commissioners. All extensions to plant and feed pipes are under the control of the board of commissioners.

Building Bylaw Amendment

An amendment to the building bylaw whereby if a majority of the residents in a block build to a certain line, no one else may build in front of this line was introduced but, after a few minutes, it was objected to it on the ground that it interfered with the rights of the individual, but the other aldermen thought it was a good idea, as it would tend to beautify the city. It was decided to leave the matter over and have the working of the bylaw further extended.

Street Railway Extensions

Just before the council adjourned, Ald. Lundy brought up the question of the street railway extensions. "Every day that this question is put off means a loss to the city," said he. "The exhibition people are working overtime, and if the people can't be taken down there on the cars pretty soon, the system will lose a lot of money."

Mayor Lee explained that tenders for the extensions would be opened on the 25th, and work would start soon after.

Hay Market Site

The hay-market site question next came up for discussion. Ald. Lundy wanted the site cleaned up and put in shape. He moved that the commissioners be instructed to fix up the site for use as a hay and calf market and that market bylaws from other cities be examined and a set of bylaws for the market here be drawn up. Ald. McNis seconded it, and the motion carried.

Council then adjourned until next Monday night at eight o'clock.

understood that the provincial government could not aid them. The province was too young. They would have to go to the Dominion government. "You give us a reason that the C. P. R. and C. N. R. are anxious to develop this country?"

"No, I don't think the C. P. R. or C. N. R. were mentioned."

"Did you undertake to aid the delegation in getting a subsidy from the Dominion government?"

"There was some suggestion that a letter be sent to the Dominion government approving of the plan."

"Did any of the delegation ever come back to see you?"

"None, except Mr. McDougall."

"Did you not see Mr. Cornwall, or Mr. Faulkner, or Mr. Haves again?"

"Mr. Haves called shortly afterwards, but it was merely a friendly call, nothing was said about the railway."

"Who introduced the delegation?"

"Mr. McDougall."

"Were any members of the legislature present at the meeting?"

"I don't remember that any were there, although Mr. Boyle might have been there."

"What makes you think Mr. Boyle was there?"

"Well, three years is a pretty long while to remember, but I have an indistinct remembrance that Mr. Boyle was present."

"Then during the spring of 1907 did you hear from any of these people interested in the Athabasca Railway, or was there ever any mention made of the amount they wanted as a bond guarantee, or as to the probability of cost of the road?"

"No, nothing like that at all. Only vague generalities were discussed."

Hadn't Seen Draft Agreement

Mr. Johnston then produced the draft agreement between the Athabasca Railway company and the provincial government whereby the latter was to guarantee the railway at the rate of $250,000.

"Did you ever see this, Dr. Rutherford?" asked Mr. Johnston.

"No, I never saw it before in my life."

The memorandum prepared by the Athabasca Syndicate and presented to the government was shown to Mr. Rutherford, and he stated he had never seen it before.

"There is a letter here from Mr. Biggar to Mr. Minty, dated February, 1907, in which he says the government refused to take the plunge. Did Mr. Biggar see you personally?"

"No, not at all."

Mr. Johnston then produced a letter from Mr. Cornwall to Mr. Minty in which he stated that the Premier just before the latter left for England in the beginning of May and that the Premier had expressed himself willing to help the railway, the government had not decided yet.

"I don't remember seeing Mr. Cornwall and I certainly never expressed myself as willing to help the railway."

"Now, doctor, while you were in Ottawa did you approach any of the federal officers as to aiding this railway?"

"No, I did not."

"In several letters from Cornwall to his associates mention is made of the fact that in return for his using his influence with the members of the government he was to receive a certain number of shares. Do you know whether he ever approached any of the other members of the government?"

"I don't know anything about that."

Mr. Johnston then produced the signed letter from Faulkner to the premier, dated at Winnipeg, October 1907, in which Faulkner stated that he had seen Cushing in Winnipeg and the latter had told him that the premier had indicated that there was to be use of any of the members of the Athabasca Syndicate coming to Edmonton.

"Where there any reports made at this letter, along with a memorandum of the cost prepared by Mr. Woodman, had been given to him by Mr. Biggar, apparently coming from Mr. Rutherford."

"In this letter Mr. Cushing gives the impression that you had told him that the government would not consider aiding the railway. Is that right?"

"Very likely."

"In April, 1908, Cornwall says he is well working. Was he working on you?"

"No, I should say not."

Bowen and Clarke

"Did you ever meet Mr. Bowen?"

"Yes, I met him first in the early part of June, 1908. He told me he was interested in a railway project. I saw him again about two weeks later."

"When did you meet Clarke?"

"About the end of June. Mr. Bowen introduced him to me."

"Did they state what they were here in Alberta for?"

"Yes, they said they were looking over the province to see what opportunities there were for railroad building."

"Did they ever tell you they were interested in the Athabasca Syndicate?"

"No."

"Was Cornwall with them?"

"No."

"Did you ever meet Clarke again in regard to the railway?"

"Yes, in July, 1908, we met at Mr. Cross's suggestion in his room in the Athabasca Hotel at Calgary. The members of the council met Mr. Clarke there and he asked us if the government would aid him in building the line. He stated that the time had now come when it was necessary to help some railway build to the north."

"Was the character of this mention made?"

"I think there was some mention made of guaranteeing the bonds of the company, but nothing definite was decided."

Railway Policy Discussed.

"Did you have a definite railway policy discussed by the cabinet?" asked counsel.

"Some time near the end of November."

"Had you been approached by the Canadian Northern and Canadian Pacific?"

"Several times I had discussed the matter with a lot of people. Just general discussions. The Canadian Northern said they were ready to extend the railway to the north."

"When did you give an assurance to the C.T.P. or C.P.R. that their request for guarantee would be favorably received?"

"Not until the end of the year."

"Did you fix it definitely?"

"No."

The premier said that the government had a number of propositions. If an established railway had good grounds, the government would agree to guarantee their bonds.

"Had you received any further information about Mr. Clarke?"

"A little."

The witness stated that Mr. Clarke had a number of meetings in Kansas City pertaining to his financial standing.

"Did you meet Mr. Bowen in Edmonton?" continued counsel.

"No."

"Did you ever meet Mr. Clarke after the meeting?"

"I saw Clarke some time after in counsel in connection with the Waddell matter in connection with the legislation was passed unanimously."

"Had the members of the cabinet discussed the project about that time?"

"No."

Dr. Rutherford said that Messrs. Clarke and Waddell came to see him about the time Waddell first came to Edmonton. No business was transacted nor was the matter of the railway broached.

"When was the railway first discussed by the company of business?"

"Shortly after the return of the survey. There was no agreement arrived at until November."

"You say the next meeting was in November between yourself, Messrs. Cushing, Cross, and Dr. Waddell and Mr. Clarke?"

"Yes."

"How many meetings were there in November?"

"My recollection is that there were two."

"Were both the meetings in your office?"

"Yes."

"Were Waddell and Clarke present at both?"

"Yes."

"Was there a cabinet conference previous to the second meeting?"

"Yes, for two or three minutes."

"When you met Clarke and Waddell on the first occasion did they submit their proposition?"

"We discussed their proposition in general."

"Was there a report of the survey presented?"

"No."

"What else took place?"

"Nothing definite occurred until November 14th. We were waiting for the report of the survey before we decided anything."

"Had you any more knowledge then of the nature of the country through which the road was to run?"

"There was no one surveying the country on behalf of the government."

"Did you know of any meeting that took place on November 14th?"

"No."

"Did you see Dr. Waddell between meetings?"

"No."

"Did you have any conference with the members of your cabinet?"

"No."

"So you went to the second meeting without any more knowledge in regard to the railway than you learned at the first?"

"Yes, the report that the road would cost $250,000 a mile."

"Were there any reports made at this letter, along with a memorandum of the cost prepared by Mr. Woodman, had been given to him by Mr. Biggar, apparently coming from Mr. Rutherford."

"In this letter Mr. Cushing gives the impression that you had told him that the government would not consider aiding the railway. Is that right?"

"Very likely."

"In April, 1908, Cornwall says he is well working. Was he working on you?"

"No, I should say not."

Bowen and Clarke

"Did you ever meet Mr. Bowen?"

"Yes, I met him first in the early part of June, 1908. He told me he was interested in a railway project. I saw him again about two weeks later."

"When did you meet Clarke?"

"About the end of June. Mr. Bowen introduced him to me."

"Did they state what they were here in Alberta for?"

"Yes, they said they were looking over the province to see what opportunities there were for railroad building."

Advice Given to Women in an Address by Mrs. Burnett.

The feature of a decidedly entertaining programme given in the Sunday school hall of the First Presbyterian Church last evening was an interesting address by Mrs. P. Burnett on the topic, "The Possibilities of the Girl." Rev. Dr. McQueen occupied the chair.

Mrs. Burnett pointed out that every person born into the world is here with a special mission which only he or she can carry out. She went on to show that a common mission of womanhood is the moulding of the men, and uplifting of the home. Mrs. Burnett gave practical illustrations of the tremendous influence wielded by woman and the progress they are making in all walks of life. The speaker stated that she had changed her beliefs in regard to woman suffrage and was now fully convinced that the granting of the ballot to women was a matter of time.

"And as this is to be the case," she went on, "women must prepare themselves for it. They must study the questions of the day and make themselves fully conversant with all current affairs."

Besides Mrs. Burnett's interesting address, selections were given by the Sunday school orchestra under Mr. Watts, the organist, and recitations and songs by members of the choir.

The entertainment was much appreciated by a large audience and a hearty vote of thanks was given to Mrs. Burnett for her address.

ORDERS FOR THE PARADE

Proclaim New King

Next Friday afternoon after the conclusion of the memorial service, a garrison parade of all the militia stationed here, will be held. This is for the purpose of having the proclamation of the accession of the new King and the administering of the oath of allegiance to the officers. After the service in the Third Rink, the troops will march to the 10th armory, where they will reform and from there march to the McKay Ave. school grounds, where the ceremony will take place. At its conclusion the troops will give the royal salute and three cheers for the new King will be called for.

Masonic Service.

In connection with the public services of the Masonic bodies to be held in the Empire Theatre, starting at eight o'clock Friday night, and which will be a repetition of the beautiful private service which was held on Sunday afternoon at the Masonic Hall, it is believed that there will be present the largest number of Masons ever assembled in Edmonton. It is estimated that there are over four hundred Masons in the city, and on account not only of his personal attributes but also on account of the exalted position he occupied in the craft, Masons revere the late King more perhaps than any other body of men, and it is believed that every Mason in the city be affiliated with any of the Lodges or not, will be present at the ceremonial.

The doors of the lodge room will be opened at 6.30 as there is considerable preparation beforehand and the lodge officers request that so far as possible the brethren have the aprons bound with crepe before they come together.

The admission to the theatre will be by ticket, only with the exception of the brethren in possession, and each Mason or member of any of the three lodges is entitled to two tickets for friends. The tickets will be distributed at the following places: Sirsons drug store, Wise Block; McManus Bros. office, 114 Jasper avenue; W. L. Johnston's office, McPherson hall avenue; Graham & Reid, 453 N. Yampoy avenue.

The programme is in the process of arrangement and will be published tomorrow with other details of the meeting.

Rehearsal for Memorial Service. A full rehearsal of chorus and orchestra for Friday's memorial service will be held on Thursday evening at half-past eight in All Saints school room. It is hoped that all members of the festival chorus and orchestra, and all members of the various church choirs will attend this rehearsal.

JUDGE NOEL WILL TAKE LONG TRIP

Will Make Record Journey for Judge on Official Duties—Will Visit Fort McPherson.

In a few days time, Judge Noel of the Athabasca District Court, will leave for the north in his official capacity and it is expected that he will deviate from the usual route and instead of proceeding from Fort McMurray to Fort Vermilion, it is possible that he may follow the Mackenzie to Fort McPherson, which is a little more than a hundred miles from the Arctic Ocean.

This trip, which will be the most extensive one that Judge Noel has ever undertaken in the performance of his duties, will cover about six or seven thousand miles and it will be about a year before Judge Noel arrives at Fort Vermilion, Peace River Crossing and the Lesser Slave Lake, where he will hold court.

On May 23rd he will hold his first court, which will be at Athabasca Landing, after which he will proceed to Fort McMurray, three hundred and fifty miles north of Edmonton. Mr. E. Wadleigh, clerk of the court, will accompany Judge Noel. Both are old travellers and were in Wawona City together some years ago, as a practicing lawyer and as a resident government official.

GRAIN GROWERS ATTACK GRAHAM

Saskatchewan Men Say Appropriation for the Hudson Bay Railway are Altogether Too Small.

Moose Jaw, May 18.—At a meeting of the executive of the Saskatchewan Grain Growers' Association yesterday the Hudson Bay Railway was discussed and the following resolution passed: "That while in the face of the assurance of Hon. George P. Graham, Minister of Railways, given on the floor of parliament, some short time ago, we, at our last executive meeting, felt it our duty to express confidence in the declaration of the federal government as to the speedy construction of the Hudson Bay Railway, later developments in the form of totally inadequate appropriation for carrying on of the work make it necessary for us on behalf of the many thousand members of our association to protest most vigorously against such flagrant breach of faith in a matter so vitally affecting the whole population of Western Canada and that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Dominion authorities and the press."

The doors of the lodge room will be opened at 6.30 as there is considerable preparation beforehand and the lodge officers request that so far as possible the brethren have the aprons bound with crepe before they come together.

WILD WEST CRAZE ENDED IN DEATH

Lad was Firing at a Picture of an Indian When Sister Got in the Way.

Chicago, May 18.—Pictures of Indians roughly drawn in chalk on a kitchen wall and a loaded revolver in the hands of a 14 year old boy were the elements that led to a tragedy that ended the life of 9 year old Helen Hayes yesterday afternoon at the residence of her mother, 505 South Carpenter street.

Lying on an improvised bed, just below the picture, police of the stockyards station, summoned by a telephone message from neighbors, found the body of the girl. Near her was her brother, Raymond, horrified at what he had done. On the floor was the revolver.

The girl had been lying underneath the picture drawn by the brother, when after its completion, he aimed a revolver at the largest figure, that of an Indian in full war regalia.

Just as he did so, the girl in a fright, started to rise. The supposedly unloading revolver exploded with a noise that alarmed the other occupants of the house, and the girl fell back dead. The boy was too frightened at what he had done to summon help.
